Andrew D. Cohen, Ph.D., a trained organic chemist, is a Partner in Patterson Belknap's Litigation department. He is an accomplished patent litigator, with over 15 years of experience in patent law. Dr. Cohen focuses his practice on life science patent litigation, where he leverages his scientific background to translate complicated technology into easy-to-understand terms. He has represented innovators in Hatch-Waxman and Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act (BPCIA) cases, and has represented clients in inter partes reviews (IPR) proceedings before the patent office. A well-rounded litigator, Dr. Cohen also represents clients in complex commercial disputes (including arbitrations) and defending consumer class actions. He maintains an active pro bono practice in areas of civil rights, immigration, and housing. Dr. Cohen has also helped lead the firm's long-standing collaboration with Legal Services of the Hudson Valley, representing low-income tenants in housing disputes in Westchester County and surrounding regions.

Prior to joining the firm, Dr. Cohen served as a law clerk to the Hon. Cathy Seibel of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. Prior to clerking, Dr. Cohen also spent three years as a patent agent at an international law firm, where he worked on motion practice, patent prosecution, due diligence, and opinion drafting. Before that, he was a scientific advisor for three years at a boutique intellectual property law firm, where he worked on Hatch-Waxman litigations, as well as due diligence, opinion drafting and patent prosecution. Dr. Cohen was recognized as a Rising Star in the New York-Metro edition of Super Lawyers from 2017-2020.

Representative Experience:

- Obtained a trial victory for a Fortune 100 pharmaceutical company in a Hatch-Waxman patent litigation following a multi-week virtual bench trial. At stake was nearly 10 years of patent protection for a blockbuster medicine with over $1.5 billion in annual sales in the United States.
- Represented a Fortune 500 biotechnology company in obtaining dismissal of a $530 million patent infringement suit regarding recombinant DNA expression vectors.
- Represented multinational pharmaceutical company in one of the first cases brought under the BPCIA involving a blockbuster antibody product and methods of manufacturing biologics.
- Represented multinational pharmaceutical company against U.S. Customs in a bench trial, successfully obtaining judgment that the company's blockbuster small-molecule drug can be imported duty-free.
- Represented a pharmaceutical company in arbitration regarding small-molecule product royalties.
